

Tegel Projekt GmbH

Tegel Projekt GmbH is a state-owned company of the State of Berlin, established in 2011 to oversee the transformation of the former Tegel Airport site. Until 2020, the company led an extensive planning process that involved both expert and public input. In 2021, the State of Berlin entrusted Tegel Projekt GmbH with the redevelopment of the airport grounds and tasked it with implementing two major projects: Urban Tech Republic, a research and industrial park for urban technologies, and Schumacher Quartier, a sustainable and socially inclusive residential neighbourhood. Tegel Projekt GmbH owns a significant portion of the Urban Tech Republic site and is responsible for planning, construction and site operations. In parallel, the company builds strategic partnerships, attracts investors, leases space, and manages communications and public relations. Tegel Projekt GmbH has a team of around 100 employees and is jointly led by Gudrun Sack and Frank Wolters. The members of the Supervisory Board are:

- Christian Gaebler | Chairman (Senator for Urban Development, Construction and Housing)
- Dr. Severin Fischer | Deputy Chairman (State Secretary; Senate Department for Economics, Energy and Public Enterprises)
- Britta Behrendt | Member (State Secretary for Climate Protection and the Environment; Senate Department for the Environment, Mobility, Consumer Protection and Climate Action)
- Stefan Frauenstein | Member (Head of Division I G Fundamental Property Matters, Reunification Law; Senate Department of Finance)
- Florian Hauer | Member (State Secretary for Federal, European and International Affairs; Plenipotentiary of the State of Berlin to the Federal Government; Senate Chancellery)
